What is the difference between deep cleaning and regular cleaning?

Marigolds Cleaning Services

Kitchen Deep Cleans and Extractor Fans

We often get asked what the difference is between regular cleaning and deep Cleaning..

Regular cleaning is what your cleaning/kitchen staff do on a regular basis. To maintain a certain level of cleanliness.

This will cover:

- hoovering and mopping the floors
- cleaning bathrooms – sink, mirror, and toilet
- Tidying up
- cleaning the kitchen – wiping down work surfaces, cupboard doors, hobs etc.

Deep cleaning is very different and is often desirable before an inspection from Health and Hygiene, Ofsted or to maintain a Healthy environment.

Deep cleaning is different from regular or spring cleaning because it reaches the deep grime and dirt in your Kitchen/school/workplace It covers areas which aren't traditionally covered by a regular clean for example:

- behind kitchen appliances, cutting through the grime that builds up
- skirting boards
- under the sink and on tiles
- re-whitening grout
- inside of window frames and extractor fans
- inside of all windows
- full wipe down of walls and ceiling.
- scale removal from all bathroom tiles, kitchen tiles, urinals, taps, etc.
- Scrub and polish of the floor area to maintain the slip resistant properties of the floor.

Extractor Fans in commercial kitchens usually require degreasing at least every two years to be insurance compliant, if there is ever a fire your insurance company will want to know when it was last cleaned professionally. We can help by supplying a comprehensive report of work carried out along with photographic evidence.

Deep Cleaning Bathrooms

As well as covering what a regular clean would, deep cleaning the bathroom means cleaning underneath and behind the sinks and pipe work and using professional lime scale remover to remove built up scale from all taps, tiles, partitions and flooring. We will often re-whiten old grout and replace the old sealant when necessary. Ceilings and Walls are washed down then we Steam clean the whole area to make sure it's totally hygienic

This is of course reflected in the time it takes to carry out the clean. Most regular cleaning is done for 30 minutes per bathroom or kitchen by one person. A deep clean often takes 5-6 hours and is carried out by two staff. We supply you with a comprehensive report of all work carried out, including pictures. All of our staff are enhanced Dbs checked (CRB ) and our work is fully guaranteed.
